LESSON 4.4

Spanish Infant Temperament

Suitable for: Any client

Time frame: Third trimester or any time in infancy

Lesson Objective: To help a young woman understand that babies react differently to environment and stimulus and that her reaction is important to her baby's emotional health

Instructions: There is no video with this lesson. Go over the material, using the questions in italics to get to know your client.

Homework: Give your client the Booklet, Your Newborn's Emotions and a copy of the worksheet. The questions are written off of the lesson.

Supplies: Booklet, Your Newborn's Emotions

Note: You do not need to remove the master sheets from the protective plastic to copy. You can copy right through the plastic. Start with the last page first and move forward so your copies will come out in order.
